of baseball, nor any understanding of its historical place in American culture, I loved this one. I had a great time going back and visiting Steve and Terry, two dear old pals whose correspondence with each other is fun, funny and just a joy to peek in on. It was great catching up with them at this point in their lives to see what's happening right now. I've found all the two guys books a joy to read, and this one is no exception. Can't wait to see what's next! 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. What Fun! By Marcia L After writing books about reading Moby Dick and Jane Austen, the authors have tackled baseball. It's a great read for any baseball fan, even if one of the writers (Terry Hill) is a Yankees fan. At least Steve Chandler has the taste to root for the Diamondbacks. A delight from start to finish. 3 of 4 people found the following review helpful. Two Guys Read the Box Scores By graciebjd I'm anticipating yet another terrific, fun read when Steve and Terry's latest book arrives at my door. Their other three books have been most entertaining, and I'd recommend them to anyone. Although my interest in baseball is at best peripheral, I KNOW the book will be a delight!

Another HOME RUN from the TWO GUYS! In this book, Chandler and Hill take their game to a whole new level. This time they are assuming their favorite profession of all: baseball fans. Read along as they follow, dissect, critique, and enliven a whole major league season from different cities on opposite sides of the country. You'll chuckle and howl with them as they chronicle their teams' bizarre highs and lows. As in the first three books in this hilarious series, Chandler and Hill go off on wild tangents and trade many exchanges on subjects seemingly unrelated to baseball. But by the end of the book they convince you that baseball might just be the one thing in life that holds us all together. Chandler is a former sportswriter who has twenty books to his credit, and Hill is an award-winning advertising creative director and playwright. It also didn't hurt that these two guys have been close friends since the 1950s, and that they played on a Little League championship team together in 1955.
