Great playBy iJuanI was given a copy of this play by my theatre professor last semester to read over for our final project which was for the entire class to perform the play in the school's theatre. I loved this play. It's funny, edgy and has a great message about family, friends, art and how to cope with family tragedy. It was also my first play to perform, being a musical theatre actor up til then, and it was a great play. If you'd like a new read, check this out. WARNING: it does have a bit of foul language.
