And often times we know of movie quotes that are familiar even if we've never seen the movie. The book brings all of this to bloom in a wonderful book asking you to recognize quotes both general and specific to an actor, theme or movie. As the book progresses the quizzes become more difficult, and provide a real challenge to even a movie geek. Just the kind of book to have fun with some friends over a few beers. No lofty ambitions here, just a hope to make you think, and be entertained.5 of 6 people found the following review helpful. not for kidsBy T.willyI love movie trivia, and this book is packed with fun stuff. However, prospective buyers need to know that this book contains quotes which contain very foul language and subjects. So, do not make the mistake I made when I bought this book for my kids to read during family drives. It would be great if the author could issue a newer edition with more recent trivia and omission of unnecessary nastiness. There are plenty of memorable movie lines out there without needing to use ones with F-bombs and the like. Otherwise highly recommended.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Four StarsBy Kristin Urbani've had better

Do you know what films have given us the following quotes?"What we have here is a failure to communicate." "Excuse me while I whip this out." "Would somebody get this walking carpet out of my way?" "I don't know why they call this stuff Hamburger Helper, it does just fine by itself." And how are you at movie trivia? In The Blues Brothers why are Jake and Elwood "puttin' the band back together"? In Airplane!, which dinner was poisoned: the fish or the chicken? True or False: Diane Keaton won the Academy Award for Best Actress for her performance in Annie Hall. For the movie buff and video hound, What's that From? provides hours of entertainment. You can test your knowledge with more than 1,000 quotes and questions from more than 250 contemporary films--from Academy Award winners to cult classics.
