A very funny bookBy johnrgWhat a funny book! It's just what the world needs...more tinkerers. I quickly sent it along to my top tinkered son who found it to be a perfect fit. As any tinkerer knows, tinkering makes you smart.1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Hours of fun and sparksBy Dr. R. D. B. LaimeJohnson is a great writer, so add this tome of fun, frolic and sparks to help you imagine the unimaginable. Book arrived in pristine condition(as advertised)and in record time. Great associate.

Ever wanted a chair that converts into a rowing machine? Sunglasses that serve as a wallet? A car with a sundeck so you can work on your tan on those long road trips? Well, inventor and illustrator Steven Johnson has designed these marvels and many, many more, spurred on by a truly insatiable imagination. His wacky, wonderful concepts could very well change the world--that is, if someone was ever bold enough to build them. From clothing to dining technology, home furnishings to appliances, and gardening gadgets to survival gear, WHAT THE WORLD NEEDS NOW is a sourcebook of revolutionary designs that prove how far our techno-culture has yet to go. ,Äç Includes a three-step plan for inventing useful and useless things.

Exceptional and valuable beyond their initial reading. . . . Belongs in every home's smallest room. His sketches of fanciful inventions and improvements to existing ones are hilarious and brilliant. . . .[A] hilarious compendium of suggestions for would-be inventors.—Miami Herald"One of the funniest and most ingenious titles in the field. There is just no limit to the range of practical weirdness covered by the drawings of Steven M. Johnson . . . a collection of proposed inventions that will leave you shaking your head in wonder at their artistry and application." —Patricia Holt, San Francisco ChronicleAbout the AuthorSTEVEN M. JOHNSON studied English, architecture, and three other disciplines before receiving his B.A. in journalistic studies, but he's still not sure what he wants to do when he grows up. For now, he dabbles in writing and cartooning from his home in Torrance, California.
