David P. Schreiber : Where Did We Go Wrong? before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Where Did We Go Wrong?:

When Roger Seville contracts a hit on his wife, Hillary, never in his wildest imagination did it occur to him that Hillary had similar lethal intentions. When happenstance dictates that the hits be carried out on the same night, the murderous intentions of both husband, wife and the two killers, one male, one female, go terribly awry. The relentless comedy of errors that ensues leads both Roger and Hillary to one conclusion. Where Did We Go Wrong? Everywhere.
